DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372. This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, 4, 10, 11/1, 12, 13/1, 17-21, and 23-24.

Group II, claim(s) 5, 7, 11/5, 13/5

Group III, claim(s) 9.

Group IV, claim(s) 25-26.

Group V, claim(s) 27-36.

Each group is drawn to a transfer mechanism for substrates. Claims 11 and 13 depend respectively on either claim 1 or 5.

Common among all groups are the following elements:

- A carrying mechanism
- A carrying base table having two arms
 - Wherein the holding surfaces of both arm are substantially positioned on the same plane
 - Wherein the projection direction of both holding arms is substantially the same side

There is no other common matter among the claim groupings that could be considered of special technical significance. If a reference teaches these common elements, the requirement of unity of invention will not be satisfied.

Shibuya, US 6,318,538, discloses this carrying mechanism:

- A transfer base (2) (Fig. 1);
- A support for supporting the transfer base (1);
- A first (RA1) and second (RA2) support arm disposed on the transfer base;

Art Unit: 1762

- Wherein the two support arms respectively have a first and second support surface to retain substrates (Fig. 4c)
- Wherein the first and second support surfaces are positioned on the same plane (Fig. 2)
- Wherein the first and second support arms are projected from the transfer base toward an equivalent side

In light of Shibuya, the carrying mechanism is not technically significant under PCT Rule 13.2, Section 2. As such, the claims do not satisfy the requirement of unity of invention.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1762

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Nathan K. Ford whose telephone number is 571-270-1880. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 8:30-5:00 EDT.
